Practice experience: As an occupational therapist for almost 30 years, I have worked in many settings both in NZ and England including hospital, community and 17 years running a multidisciplinary practice in the Gisborne district managing private, MOH and ACC contracts. As a professional supervisor for the past 20 years I have become passionate about supporting health professionals to care for themselves while caring for others. I currently supervise a wide range of professionals within health and education and also have a life coaching practice.

Supervision experience and qualifications: My original supervision training was in the TAPES model completed in 1999 with subsequent training from the NZ Coaching and Mentoring Centre and NZAOT workshops. I completed the post graduate paper `Supervision for the Helping Professions` in 2011 and in 2013 finished 15 months training to gain a Certificate in Personal and Corporate Coach training with CoachU (USA). The models I use are primarily based on Kolb's learning and reflective cycle including the What, So What, Now What model of reflective practice.

Practice experience: I have been practising as an occupational therapist for nearly 29 years, and have been in private practice for nearly 15 years as a sole practitioner based in a mental health practice with other clinicians. This involves working primarily in a mental health clinical role, working with individuals and groups, together with providing education, consultation, and supervision services. Prior to entering private practice, I worked for 14 years in a range of community and hospital-based environments in both mental health and physical health care, and in both clinical and leadership roles in New Zealand and the United States.

In my current clinical role I work predominantly with people presenting with anxiety disorders, major depressive episodes, workplace stress and bullying issues. Additionally I facilitate a group in the primary health environment for people with anxiety disorders, together with workshops for organisations on a range of health and safety topics, provide clinical, group, and professional supervision, and some consulting / advisory work for organisations.

I have completed qualifications in Clinical Supervision, Adult Teaching, Clinical Neuropsychotherapy Practice, Rational Emotive Behaviour Therapy, and Solution Focused Brief Intervention, and this year complete a Postgraduate Diploma in Cognitive Behaviour Therapy through Massey University. I currently provide supervision for both clinicians and non-clinical staff, from occupational therapy, nursing, and social work professions, working in a range of roles, in both physical and mental health settings, and for people working in management and administration roles in the health and disability sector. I draw from a range of practice models relevant to the training noted above.

Supervision experience and qualifications: Completed Accreditation as Clinical Supervisor through Wintec, and in supervision while I am trained in the TAPES Model, I draw from the various models noted above.

I have been providing clinical supervision for approximately 26 years, and have been facilitating group supervision for over 20 years.

Practice experience: I have experience as a manager, supervisor and occupational therapist working within the Ministry of Education for fourteen years. I am experienced in delivering a range of learning support specialist services to children and young people in the education sector. Prior to my time at the Ministry of Education I worked in private practice providing occupational therapy services to students with additional needs within fund-holder schools, and provided supervision to occupational therapists. My initial paediatric experience was as sole occupational therapist in an NZCCS early intervention service. I have also worked with NZRDA as a therapist and national trainer.

Supervision experience and qualifications:

Qualifications:

Introductory Certificate in Supervision
Post-graduate Diploma Occupational Therapy Practice

Training:

Solution Focused Supervision
The Art of Deliberate Success
Strategic Change Leadership
Workwise Training
Resilience in the Workplace
Leader Within Program
NZIM Mentoring Program

Experience: I have provided supervision to Occupational Therapists and others since 2004, including therapists who are returning to practice after a break. I have provided leadership and development for staff in my management role. Within the Ministry of Education, I facilitated introductory supervision trainings with supervisee and supervisors.

I am currently enrolled in the Master's program completing my research project which considers the impact of supervision on practice and results for clients.

Supervision is an intentional, collaborative and supportive relationship providing professional support where practitioners can develop knowledge and competence. To this end I primarily use a Solution-focused and strengths-based approach, drawing on other approaches as needed to meet the needs of the supervisee.

Practice experience: I have worked for 9 years in non-government organisations in New Zealand and Australia working primarily with young people and their families offering therapeutic intervention, community support and health promotion. Including presentations to local community groups, agencies and stakeholders.

I love to bring a vibrant and fresh perspective to the conversations about mental health. I also am involved in various healing modalities (including mindfulness, life coaching, and trauma informed care) and talking therapies (Acceptance and Commitment therapy, SBT, The Pascha method) which assists me to create and promote a therapeutic experience for our young people.

I am currently working at Odyssey House Christchurch; where I offer assessment and brief intervention support for young people with mild-moderate mental health challenges, aged 13-18 years; I also manage a workload and support staff in the 2IC position.

Supervision experience and qualifications:

I can give a clinician the opportunity to review and reflect on their professional practice keeping in line with professional standards and promoting sound, ethical and safe work.

With qualifications and experience in leadership, life coaching and talking therapies I also can provide a space where career goals and passions can be explored and supported. This can include working through barriers, triggers and challenges.

Particularly aimed at new graduates, I can assist in promoting positive health whilst working in the mental health field for the first time, reflecting on what keeps you well and balanced in your workplace. This includes managing demand, safety and risk.

Practice experience: I have over 20 years' experience as an Occupational Therapist working in a range of settings including public, private contracting, overseas and now self-employed. My experience has spanned adult orthopaedic, vocational and neuro rehabilitation. My current area of practice is primary health care. I have a special interest in early intervention, health promotion and prevention with older people and adult mental health and wellbeing, as well as self-management for people with long term conditions, all at a primary healthcare level.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I enjoy supervising OTs who work in isolation, in emerging areas of practice or who are returning to practice. I use a strengths based, supervisee-centred approach and am eclectic in my use of supervision models, depending on the supervisee's needs and goals. My passion is empowering Occupational Therapists to work to the top of their scope while learning and growing from their experiences. I have completed a number of supervision courses over the years and participate in regular supervision myself, in which I develop my supervision practice and skills.

Practice experience: I have a wide range of practice experiences incorporating both Physical and Mental Health and have held occupational therapy leadership roles for over 30 years. I am currently Team leader and Professional advisor for Occupational therapy in Hawkes Bay, a position I have held for 4 years. Previously I have held management and leadership roles in mental health and addiction services. I have an Applied practice Masters in rehabilitation and a passion for enabling people to be active partners and engaged in their own recovery journey.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I use critical reflective approaches, and am experienced with the TAPES model. I have leadership knowledge and skills and can offer coaching and shared experiences to work actively to develop team building skills and improve team culture and behaviour. I understand and can interpret registration and regulation expectations and impacts on scope.

Practice experience: I am currently a Board appointed member of the Occupational Therapy Board of New Zealand. I have worked for 15 years in mental health in community and inpatient settings, then moving into a clinical education and project management role. I was Professional Advisor for OT for a few years, overseeing 65 staff. I then moved into Learning and Development for the whole DHB, providing training for all departments and encouraging workplace wellbeing from an occupational perspective. I am currently a director on 2 boards and am building my expertise at this strategic level. I also teach front line government staff and community groups in mental health literacy and how to support someone in distress. I am interested in moving into non-traditional OT roles while still maintaining registration and working within our scope of practice. I also work as a coach, particularly for people in healthcare leadership roles and enjoy supporting people to develop their performance.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I completed training in NZ and the UK on multi-disciplinary models of supervision. I have supervised people working in mental and physical health and vocational rehabilitation. My practice has focused on clinical education and project management so I can help people moving into these roles from a direct clinical role. I use the 3CDD model of supervision to guide reflection.

Practice experience: I have practised as a registered occupational therapist in New Zealand since qualifying in 1993. I am familiar with and confident in a variety of OT practice areas including working with children and their families, people with mental health issues, older people, especially those with dementia, people with ongoing neurological/neuromuscular conditions for example CP or MD, those with intellectual challenges and individuals with head injury.

I have been the national coordinator for OTNZ-WNA of the Health of Older People's Special Interest Group for the past 6-7 years.

Currently I am a part time independent practitioner focussing on supervision issues for and with colleagues. I also do some health promotion work for the CCDHB disability responsiveness team.

Supervision experience and qualifications: Cert. Supervision (Helping Professions), Weltech (2010); PG Cert Occ Therapy, Otago (2011).

I have supervised others including students, occupational therapists and also speech and language therapists and physiotherapists on a regular basis since 1995. This has taken place mainly on a 1:1 face to face basis or within a small group situation, also known as peer supervision. My supervisory experience has been within both a hospital setting and also an education setting, whilst working for the DHB, Special Schools and the Ministry of Education and in recent years, independently as a supervisor.

I am a member of the NZOT-WNA Supervision special interest group for occupational therapists on line, which gives me speedy access to others throughout the country to discuss debate or question issues relating to supervision. Membership also helps to keep me up to date with new ideas, resources and notifications of courses and conferences relating to this area.

Practice experience: I qualified in the UK in 2003, working in Social Services prior to immigrating to New Zealand. Since moving here, I have worked in hospital settings, community OT settings and now in private practice. Whilst working in the local hospital, I provided supervision to a colleague. I currently specialise in Vocational Rehabilitation in private practice, but am aware of Ministry of Health processes from previous work.

My range of experience is in physical disability in a rural community, along with currently working in isolation as the sole OT has made me passionate about the importance of connecting with other Occupational Therapists and providing support to ensure the health and wellbeing of Occupational Therapists.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I enjoy supervising other Occupational Therapists, and helping to create learning pathways. I currently supervise one other Occupational Therapist working rurally. I have been supervising an Occupational Therapist for four years. I have recently completed a 3 month course titled 'Professional Supervision' provided by the online training provider, Learning Cloud.

As a result of working in isolation myself, I identify well with OTs working in isolation, and those returning to practice or from overseas. I have also worked in team, community and hospital settings, and currently supervise a therapist in a hospital setting. I like to use a supervisee centred approach to supervision, creating a holistic approach dependent on needs and goals. I am passionate about empowering OTs to work to the best of their ability, whilst learning, growing and reflecting on their personal experiences.

Practice experience: I am a registered occupational therapist with over 20 years' experience both as a clinician and a manager. I have worked in many settings in both NZ and the UK, including schools, child development services, hospitals and not-for-profit organisations. My clients have spanned all ages, and a broad range of clinical practice areas including paediatrics, assistive technology, older people, Accident and Emergency, orthopaedics, neurology and spinal cord injury. I have practiced within the Ministries of Education and Health, and with ACC contracts.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I thrive on working with experienced clinicians who are looking to reflect on and deepen their understanding of their practice, and who want to bring a renewed level of invigoration and refreshed perspective to their work. I am drawn also to supervising clinicians who work in isolation, in private practice, those returning to practice and practitioners working in non-registered and / or alternative healing modalities.

I have supervised therapists throughout my 20-year career. In 2018, I completed a post-graduate certificate in Professional Supervision in 2018, through Nelson Marlborough Institute of Technology. I am on the New Zealand Occupational Therapy Board's register of supervisors. I have undertaken Effective Supervision for Fieldwork Educators training in 2007, followed by the National Supervision Framework training with Ministry of Education, Special Education also in 2007.

I take my role of supervisor seriously, and understand the value and importance of maintaining and enhancing my professional skills as a supervisor.

Practice experience: I have 20 years' experience working in the private and public health sectors in New Zealand including both clinical and managerial roles. For about 10 years I worked with my husband in our own surgical practice. I was responsible for the overall strategy, staffing, supervision and training and financial management aspects of the business.

As well as the health sector I have worked in banking, insurance, and youth justice and have also undertaken voluntary roles in the community including working with children aged 5-18 over the last 10 years who have experienced loss or grief. I have a particular interest in business continuity and the relationship between business practices and individual wellbeing.

I know from personal experience that life has highs and lows and with support we have the resources within us to rise to the challenges that life gives us. I have successfully navigated my way through the accidental death of my husband and two eldest children in a plane crash and raised our two youngest surviving children as a single parent. I have written three books on this subject.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I have undertaken staff supervision as part of my numerous roles. Mostly I work from a Coaching framework, or a teaching learning model.

As well as being an OT, I have an MBS (health management) and have one final paper to complete a Post Graduate Diploma in Emergency Management which I will complete in semester 2, 2017.

What type of supervision do you offer?

- Face to face, Skype/Distance,
- Supervision for Standard Conditions on scope of practice (NG/Overseas/RTP),
- Group,
- New graduate package,
- ePortfolio.

What are your fees? $150.00 per one hour supervision session. New grads: By negotiation.

Practice experience: I have 35 years' experience working as an OT in UK, USA and NZ.

Field of practice: Predominantly physical medicine: Acutes (medical, surgical, ortho); Neuro-rehabilitation; Stroke rehab; Older adults; AT&R, Some Gero-psych (in USA); OT leadership positions held in metropolitan DHBs: clinical supervisor (acute service, AT&R) professional leader (acute service); clinical leader (acute service, AT&R, community service); Professional and clinical leader (Acute service, AT&R, Community, OTs working as NASCs, Child, Women and Family Service).

Currently engaging in DHSc programme at AUT (topic: clinical governance and OT practice) as well as running a private practice offering professional development services, coaching, supervision and audit.

Knowledge and skills:

- Specialist interests: Linking OT models and theory into practice; clinical governance and OT practice, Neuro-rehabilitation (Steps to Follow); working with older adults
- Supervision, coaching,
- Audit (practice; written work; ePortfolio)
- Trained in and authorised trainer for Allen Cognitive Disability Model
- Trained in PRPP
- Past manual handling educator, health and safety rep

Supervision experience and qualifications: I have attended various student supervisor and supervisee workshops, internal DHB supervisor training and DHB coaching programme, On-line supervision workshop, Own study / reading, and have Practical experience

My preferred approaches and models:

- Reflective cycle (Johns; Driscoll; Davys; Gibbs)
- The cyclical model (Page and Wokset)
- Developmental (Novice to expert practitioner)
- Strengths-based approach
- Ontological coaching approach

My experience:

Previously, mostly within DHBs, but more recently have progressed to private practice, also taking on non-DHB clients.

I have supervised managers, leaders, clinicians with a variety of practice backgrounds and cultures, non-OTs, OTs in non-traditional roles, new grads with a scope of practice. I have enjoyed working with and learning from each and every person I have supervised. Within supervision, I have marvelled at the multiple skills supervisees bring to their work, their experiences, and their challenges - how they work out solutions, build resilience and prepare for courageous conversations. It is working with these past and current supervisees who have enabled me to grow in experience and gain a deeper understanding of the supervision process. I also engage in my own regular professional supervision and deeply value the opportunity and space it gives me to be the supervisee, to reflect on and further develop my practice. That is what I hope to offer to my supervisees.

Practice experience: Most of my occupational therapy practice has been in neurology rehabilitation, both in paediatrics and with TBI and CVA. I have also worked in vocational rehabilitation in private practice. I have provided supervision to occupational therapists for more than nineteen years, initially whilst working for a rehabilitation service, and since 2002 as an independent professional supervisor through my business Emerge Supervision Services (www.emergesupervision.nz). NZDipOT, NZRegOT. I have been a member of OTNZ-WNA since 1996.

Supervision experience and qualifications: Post Graduate Certificate in Supervision (Human Services) WELTEC 2010. Whilst I am cognisant of my occupational therapy training and theoretical models in my supervision practice, and my supervisees are primarily occupational therapists I tend towards the use of a supervision specific process model of supervision. This allows me to shift my focus between the many levels or interactions happening within a supervision session, whilst still focusing on the key issues. I am trained in the TAPES model of supervision, and have a working knowledge of Hawkins and Shohert's 7 Eyed Model of supervision. I also use reflective tools such as WHOA and Critical Reflection questions.

Practice experience: I have 18 years OT experience, 17 has been in mental health, with a special interest in eating disorders and child & adolescent mental health. My background is in individual and family therapy, and I have worked across the age range over my career from children and teenagers to adults and older adults (inpatient and community settings). I was AMPS trained in the past, and primarily used this with older adults.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I have provided supervision for most of my career, including for students, new grads, overseas practitioners, and supporting development of portfolios for senior and junior staff. I have Post Graduate Diplomas in Cognitive Behaviour Therapy (2003), Occupational Practice (2006), and Professional Supervision (2016). I'm currently working 0.8FTE for ICAMHS Hamilton in occupational therapist/keyworker role. I also have a private practice one day a week where I provide professional supervision, and treatment for young people and adults with eating disorders. I'm passionate about helping health professionals of any background explore their own context for providing sound, ethical and professional practice. I enjoy challenging people to expand and build on their strengths while supporting learning in areas where they are still developing. I utilise the reflective practice and developmental models for supervision, but also lean into general therapeutic principles such as using Socratic questioning to support someone to find their own solutions to dilemmas, tailoring this to the level of experience of the practitioner. I have a sound knowledge of occupational therapy, and am able to clarify role boundaries- as well as continually redefining what occupational therapists can do within their scope.

Practice experience: I have been providing supervision, mentoring, coaching and consultation within my private supervision practice for over two decades; recognising supervision as a practice in its own right. I have 38 years of expert clinical practice in the field of paediatrics across acute, community, private and specialist practice settings, and extensive experience and expertise in leadership, strategic, governance and management domains, as well as consulting and project work. My strengths lie in communication, collaboration, systems approach thinking, facilitating critical reflection, applying supervision and coaching approaches and especially enabling others to explore their professional and clinical practice, gain meaningful insights, grow, develop and realise their aspirations through the process of meaningful supervision. I offer supervision for both occupational therapists and across a range of Allied Health professionals. The relationship between supervisor and supervisee is integral in my practice of supervision, as is the importance of transparency of roles, responsibilities and boundaries with any third party.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I have been practicing supervision as part of my career portfolio since 1998 and over this time engaged in extensive supervision-specific and coaching-related CPD. I also teach supervision skills courses for supervisees and entry level supervisors and am able to consult on establishing your own supervision framework and practice. I have also led the allied health and mental health supervision portfolio for a large urban DHB which included all aspects from policy-to-practice and the monitoring of the portfolio. Within the supervision I provide, I am able to apply a range of supervision maps, models and processes, including tools for reflective practice; ethical reasoning and coaching conversations that best meets the supervisee's requirements. My supervision process is primarily situated within a modified version of Hawkins and Shohet's 7-eyed model; MacAlpine's process model and Hawkins' CLEAR model, whilst taking a developmental approach to supervision. No supervisee is the same, so I also draw from a range of other models including Davys' reflective learning model, Hewson's supervision triangle model; McNicol's peer supervision model. Examples of specific coaching tools I use within supervision include WHOA To Go, What-So What-What Now and GROW. I have attended Supervision Train the Trainers" training and have taught supervisor and supervisee skills training since 2005.

Practice experience: I do have some areas of special interest and work experience including primary health care, neurology, mental health, wellbeing and wellness, well elderly, early intervention, preventative care and self management of long term conditions. About all of these, I am willing to share my learning and experience.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I can provide both clinical supervision and professional mentoring, depending on the requirements of the supervisee. The way I approach my role as a supervisor is by using a client centered approach whereby the goals, values and interests of the supervisee are foremost. I seek to empower my supervisees to define the issues and identify the solutions. In the process I seek to question, challenge, support, resource, reframe and listen in a friendly and gentle way. I apply my developing skills in motivational interviewing to the supervision process.

I enjoy supervising other Occupational Therapists and working together, supervisor with supervisee, to enhance your practice through reflective supervision. It is a good opportunity to develop ideas, talk them through and then reflect after implementation.

I have supervised approximately 6 OTs over the last 5 years both within practice settings of return to work and also return to practice and community based OT.

Practice experience: I have practiced for 12 years in adult community mental health, including vocational rehab, addictions, and residential NGO services using individual or workshop based interventions - experiential or theory based. My focus has always been on psychosocial interventions and discharge planning on entry (towards independence). I am now doing older person community interRAI needs assessments and case coordination. My passion lies in realistic interactions - whether that is a health professional or their clients, to enable awareness to drive actions which result in increased self efficacy.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I have in the past supervised OT students (any year) and several OT's in mental health. I updated my supervision learning last year with a L6 Cert in MH & Addictions Supervision, which has renewed my passion for supporting others to use their clinical reasoning and use their knowledge to the fullest potential. I use a range of approaches which can be eclectic depending on the supervisee, including - strengths based models, blended teaching/learning based, solution focused; CLEAR, OARS, Five Columns approaches; looking at your learning style and motivation base - to name a few.

Practice experience: I have been providing external supervision since 2012 for OT's and other staff who work with disabled people and their family/whanau in a wide range of situation. My interests whatever work situation I am in is to understand what drives a person, what they aspire to in their life and how they can be facilitated to achieve their outcomes despite their impairments.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I have completed Level 1 and 2 Supervisor Training Course - 2012 and 2015 via Margaret Morell's Vibrant Training. This training has given me a range of skills that allow me to support the supervisee to reflect on their work and develop their skills in a trusting and supportive environment.

Practice experience: I have worked as an Occupational Therapist for the past 18 years in various practice areas including acute medical/orthopaedics, rehabilitation, private practice (ACC) and community in both NZ and the UK. My passion and interest areas include rural practice, neurological rehabilitation, cognitive rehabilitation and functional community rehabilitation. I am a solid advocate for the Occupational Therapy profession in NZ and have presented at the past two NZOT clinical workshops. I hold a Post Graduate Diploma in OT through Otago Polytechnic.

Supervision experience and qualifications: I am currently the Senior Co-ordinator/Team Leader of the Occupational Therapy service at Dunstan Hospital, Clyde. I have fulfilled this role for 7 years. I have provided extensive clinical supervision to my Occupational Therapy colleagues and professional supervision for Allied Health disciplines. I have supervised 10 Occupational Therapy students over my career and have completed a three day Reflective Learning in Supervision workshop in 2005 facilitated by Allyson Davys. As part of the Occupational Therapy post graduate qualification, I completed a client education paper and motivation and behaviour change which provides solid grounding to support my supervision practice.

I apply a committed, highly supportive and reflective supervision style, where the supervisee directs the supervision agenda. My colleagues have provided excellent feedback on the value of the supervision provided.
